Wood treatment and sustainability

SCANDINAVIAN DESIGN

Norwegian Wood Design are highly committed to our environment. We do not support use of any endangered tropical wood. Sustainability and short distance materials from Norway and Scandinavia are therefore our priority choice of wood. Our products will be available in all standard types of wood as below on the left.

With wood from the Scandinavian forest, Norwegian Wood Design create elegant, gorgeous and decorative bathroom furnitures. Pieces of ash, oak, birch and alder are glued together and molded into unique sinks and bathtubs treated to withstand wet environments by the latest epoxy technology.

Quality is the keyword for Norwegian Wood Design and its products. Materials from Norwegian woods together with tasteful design and workmanship of the highest class will satisfy even the most demanding customer. We will gladly work with our customer on details and solutions desired beyond what is in our portfolio. The goal of our business is to exceed our customer's satisfaction.

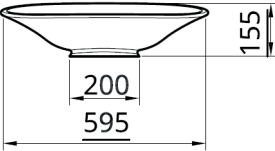

The design is inspired by the strong contrasts from the northern lights in the cold winter nights in Norway.

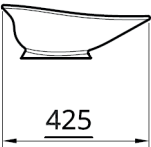

Hardangervidda is an integrated sink in countertop.
The top can be custom fitted to all cabinet dimensions.

Flexibility

Norwegian wood design has a flexible production line. We encourage our customer to participate with their personal touch on the design.

Some people have an old apple or cherry tree in the garden. What would be more special than give these new life in your bathroom? These are projects that we would love to attend to. Wooden materials provides a great structures in the furniture.

We therefore recommend to include us early in the process, to locate and uncover your needs.
